Strategic Consulting and Digital Solutions for the Aviation Industry: M2P Consulting Is New BARIG Business Partner

- Experienced consulting firm with a high level of expertise regarding airlines, airports, and much more

Frankfurt am Main, August 5, 2025. With M2P Consulting the airline association BARIG (Board of Airline Representatives in Germany) welcomes a new business partner that has already supported numerous airlines, airports, railway and logistics companies, and other providers with its consulting services. M2P Consulting stands for innovation and customer focus in long-term partnerships and provides companies with customized, efficient solutions for transformation in the traffic, transport, and logistics sector.

"Air travel faces major challenges in both passenger and air cargo transport. It is therefore crucial for all stakeholders to actively address these challenges in order to set the course for the future and growth," states BARIG Chairman and Executive Director Michael Hoppe. "M2P Consulting's international expertise will provide valuable impetus for our members, particularly in the areas of automation and digitalization."

"We have successfully completed over 500 projects for more than 100 customers from all over the world, also using cloud-based technical solutions that we develop in-house and tailor according to specific needs," explains Christophe Mostert, Managing Partner at M2P Consulting. "Aviation is a key focus at M2P Consulting. We are happy to contribute our experience to the BARIG community."

With a team of over 100 employees, M2P Consulting supports international clients from the aviation industry from its locations in Frankfurt am Main, Dubai, Los Angeles, and New York. Its range of services includes digitalization, process optimization, and efficiency improvement in particular. Especially for airlines, M2P Consulting develops strategies for network planning, pricing, and sales, among other things.
